EVERYTHING READY FOR KIDDIE KLUB'S BROOKLYN SHOW

To-Morrow Is Rehearsal Morning for Programme of Twenty-two Acts.

It's dress rehearsal to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock in the Majestic Theatre, Brooklyn, for the Patriotic Party of The Evening World's Kiddie Klub. The programme is complete, from the trumpet, who will signal the curtain raising, to the Red, White and Blue Kiddie Klub Chorus, which will close the entertainment with the Kiddie Klub song.

It's sung to the tune of "Yankee Doodle," you know, and here are the words in case you have forgotten them:

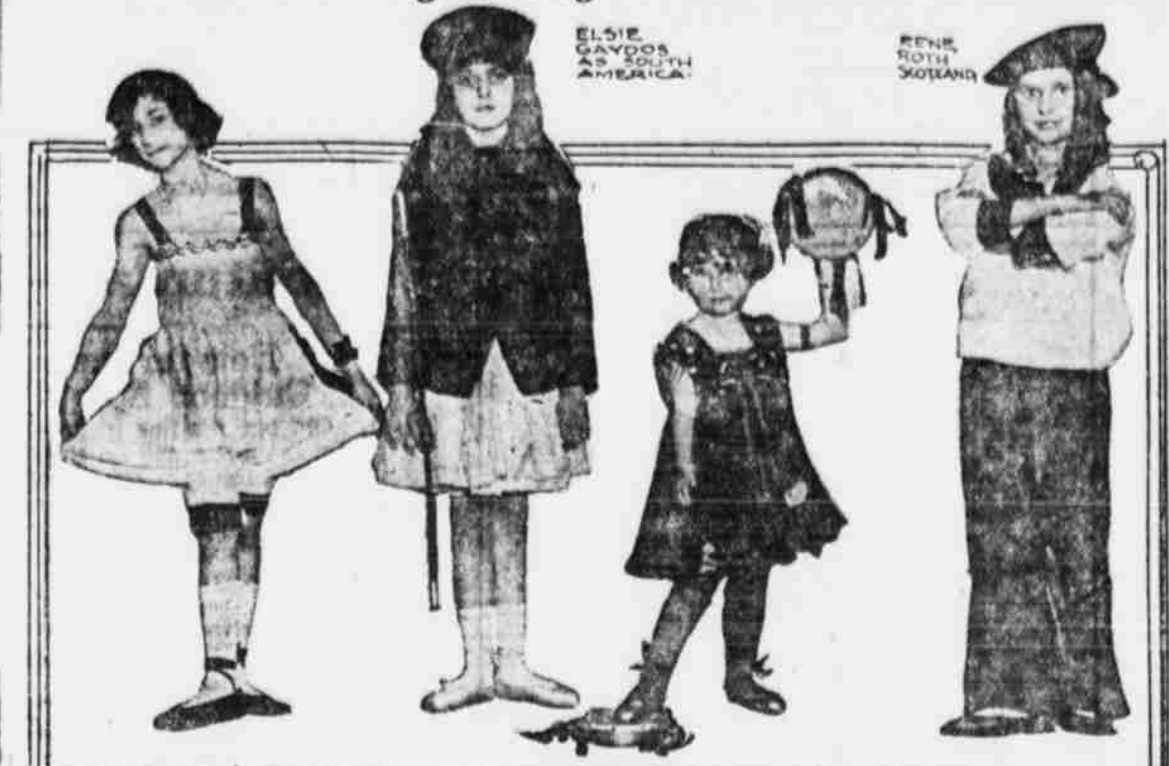

KIDDIE KLUB SONG.

(Song to the tune of Yankee Doodle.)
The Kiddie Klub has come to town,
With pennants galley flying;
We want our freedom in the show,
We pledge our love today.

There are twenty-two big acts on the programme for the Patriotic Party, which include singers, musicians, dancers, scout drills and a wrestling and boxing match by Jerry Salvatore and Patsy Dubato.

Cousin Eleanor wants printed again this reminder to Kiddie Klub members living outside Greater New York: "If you live outside of Greater New York, are a Kiddie Klub member and wish to come to the Kiddie Klub Patriotic Party, write to me so that I receive the letter no later than April 1 and I will send you two tickets, which will call for seats to be reserved until 10 A. M. on April 6, the day of our Patriotic Party. State Name, Address and Certificate Number when requesting reserved seats."

By W. G. Boudoin.

The Art Alliance of America, No. 19 East 47th Street, in its exhibition which is to be continued until March 28, is exploiting the work of its painting and sculpturing members.

If the work now shown fails to rise high in the scale it also fails to fall into the depths, and there you are. The members, it must be said, make a brave showing, with here and there an exceptional item among the 122 catalogue numbers.

The sculptured pieces, especially those of Janet Scudder, Mario Korbel and Eugenio F. Shonnard, are extremely good, both as to design, forms shown and in the workmanship.

Among the paintings, "Flower Arrangement in Red," by Jonas Lie, is somewhat off his beaten track. The flower forms are made attractive compositionally by means of the red blooms, and their arrangement. As usual, the handling is vigorous.

"Flower Arrangement," by Maude M. Mason, is a decorative rendition of arranged flowers. The management of the painted blooms, the high-keyed background and of the table cover are all good.

Miss Mason's "The Breakfast Table," with its fine Colonial flavor, is also highly pleasing.

Ella Condie Lamb's "October Blue and Gray" features some lovely white birches, which are delightfully registered, with the sky in horizon blue, in which there are massy white clouds.

"Madame Y" (a portrait) by William J. Huser, is splendidly finished in warm and glowing flesh tones.

"Withdraws the Watiful Afterglow," by Adeline Watson, is a picturesque grouping of poplar trees, with nude figures mingled and intertwined.

"One of Margaret's Moods," done in water colors by Irene Weir, is a pleasant handling in this medium of a young girl's head and shoulders. She is dressed in a white middie blouse, with a blue sailor tie.

"Night From the Plaza," by the same artist, and in the same medium, is a decorative treatment of city blocks, with spots of light effectively used.

Dorothy Freeman's "Old Prince of Wales," Charleston, S. C., is a charming treatment of a Southern mansion, with an entrance gate that is based upon some winding steps.

"Under the Red Cross," by Alphonse P. Cole, is a well conceived treatment of a Red Cross workroom, with the girls working away for dear life.

"Under the Bridge," by Harriet Lord, is full of vitality. It shows with both sweetness and force one of the New York bridges.

Harry Roseland's "Somewhere" is a pleasing treatment of a winter landscape with a stretch of snow in the foreground.

"Intermission," painted in water color by Arthur L. Keller, shows a male and a female figure in a sentimental pose, grouped in a large hall, following a dance. These are in typical attitudes.

Frederick P. Weller's "The Letter" is a well painted figure of a woman of portliness, engaged in the unfamiliar but serious business of writing a letter. Some well executed features are incidental.

"Nymphs," by William C. Rice, features a beautiful nude girl swimming in the sea of a green with attendant fishes vibrantly painted.

DUTCH DIPLOMAT SAILS.
Departing, Van Rappard Says Relations Here Were Pleasant.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, March 29.—W. P. L. C. Van Rappard, who was recently succeeded as Minister from the Netherlands to the United States by Augustus Phillips, has sailed for Holland on a Dutch steamer. The former Minister, who was appointed to the United States in 1912, is cited for a temporary appointment in the Foreign Office with a possibility, he said, of soon being named to represent his country in another foreign capital.

His relations with the people of the United States, he said, and previous, have been exceptionally pleasant. The Van Rappard said he and his family were highly respected at his departure by Holland.

FRECKLES

March Worst Month for This Trouble—How to Remove Easily.

There's a reason why nearly everybody has freckles in March, but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of othine, double strength, from your druggist and apply a little of it night and morning, and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they may stay all Summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if othine fails.—Adv.

Ouch! Sore, Touchy Corn! Few Drops and Corns Lift Out

Don't hurt a bit! Cincinnati chemist finds drug that works miracles—No humbug!

Your high heels have put corns on your toes and calluses on your feet, but why care now? This tiny bottle holds an almost magic fluid. A genius in Cincinnati discovered this other compound and named it Freezone. Small bottles of Freezone like here shown can be had at any drug store for a few cents. Don't limp or twist your face, but get a bottle of Freezone and apply a few drops on your tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you can lift it off with the fingers. Just think! You get rid of a hard corn, soft corn or a corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses without suffering one particle. Freezone is magic. Keep it on dresser. Costs a few cents.
